

SALESMEN'S BENEFIT MONTH

During the month of April we have decided to "put on" a Sale Extraordinary, and will let all of our salesmen participate on a percentage basis, based on the amount of their total sales for the month.

This is to be an annual affair, believing as we do that the salesmen have a right and that their efforts for the house should be recognized, because without the salesmen, where would our store be? Therefore, each and every penny you spend in "The Grocery So Different" during April, will help to swell the cash prize of the salesman who waits upon you.

In order that each salesman's purse will be as large as possible we will offer some extraordinary inducements to get your April account.

BEGIN YOUR APRIL ACCOUNT WITH US TODAY.

And while saving your money you will also be helping our salesmen and also receiving the best there is in Pure Food Products.

It is especially requested that all hostesses and secretaries for Easter week send notices of hostess, day and hour of assembly. Bridge and other clubs will be resuming, and the Morning News desires to have a complete women's directory for Easter Sunday. Send notice as soon as it is ready.

HIGH SCHOOL PICTURES NOT YET SELECTED

With expenses paid, there is about $125 remaining from the recent art exhibit at the high school. This sum will be expended in handsome pictures, the list of which is in progress and it is assured that the pictures will be in permanent place before the vacation period arrives.

MRS. CLIFFORD TINSMAN HAS SOCIAL ATTENTION

In passing from her home in Los Angeles, for a visit in Illinois, Mrs. Clifford R. Tinsman is the guest of Mrs. Holloway Smith. However, Mrs. Tinsman has other Waco friends who are claiming her for various social occasions. The first comes this evening, when Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Drake are introducing Mrs. Tinsman to a few from among their bridge playing friends.

THE PRISCILLAS MEET WITH MRS. ABERNATHY

The membership of the Priscillas was well represented when all were present within the hospitable home of their hostess, Mrs. W. T. Abernathy. Aside from the accustomed pleasure of chatting over the fancy work, Mrs. Abernathy gave an unexpected treat in voice and song from her talent. Others were present by special invitation, these being Miss Stowers of West, the Misses Mullens, with the Mesdames E. E. Thompson and Percy Willis, W. B. Brazleton and William Neale.

MRS. RANSOM PASSES AWAY IN HER BASTROP HOME

The frequent visits of Mrs. E. E. Ransom from Bastrop to her sister, the late beloved Mrs. W. J. Hill, later, to her niece, Mrs. Lucile Hill, makes her well known in this city. In a galvanic sanitarium, Mrs. Ransom succumbed to the knife. Her remains are taken to the Bastrop home, W. J. Hill, Miss Lucile Hill and Hardy Hill are in Bastrop for the funeral. Also, Captain and Mrs. B. D. Orsain of Bastrop, who were visiting their daughter, Mrs. Thomas McCullough here, hastened their homeward journey to pay the last mark of respect to their friend.

THE EUTERPEAN CLUB HOLDS ANNUAL ELECTION

On Saturday afternoon the Euterpean club was in session for the last details incident to the Kreiser engagement as well as for the annual election of officers. The club that the present officers consented to serve another year. This places Mrs. J. G. Wren president; Mrs. James Wright, vice president; Miss Leta Pharr, recording secretary; Miss Charlotte Ligon, corresponding secretary; Miss Bianca McKenney, treasurer; Miss Beula Duncan, music director. To represent the club at the district meeting in Bryan, Mrs. Virginia Ryan was elected delegate and Mrs. Virginia Ryan alternate. The club year will end with the two hundred dollar note on the club piano cancelled, the club out of debt, and a balance in the bank.

DR. SHAW IN BEAUMONT WACO IS CONCERNED

Recent Beaumont papers give elaborate mention of the presence in Beaumont of the noted suffrage speaker, Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, who is before a Waco audience tonight. Not only was all Beaumont in the vast tabernacle to hear Dr. Shaw, but so-called attention marked her visit in Beaumont. Mrs. Maud Gerald Richardson, always a subject of interest here, opened her handsome new home in courtesy to Dr. Shaw. Her guests were about forty personal friends, those most avowed for suffrage. The spring flowers were used in abundance, manifestly a pleasure to the woman from the far East, whose snow blankets the flower beds for another few weeks. Dr. Shaw made a highly agreeable impression as a parlor guest as well as a platform speaker.

SUFFRAGE STUDY CLUB CHANGES DAY OF MEETING

The Suffrage Study club has voted to change the day of monthly sessions to Saturday. This is in order that men and women engaged with classes during the week may participate. It is expected that the club will continue monthly meetings through the summer.

In connection with the suffrage prominence here, owing to the presence of Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, the remark of Dr. Landreth, as lecturer for the Flying Squadron, is pertinent. As we all know, Dr. Landreth is president of the Ward-Belmont school, one of the foremost southern schools for girls, in Nashville. Dr. Landreth in his address said he left Nashville with the hope that his wife and daughter might never touch the ballot. But, his recent travel through the west with observation of what woman had done with her vote, had made him a thorough convert. "Now," said the speaker, "those who do not avow suffrage for women had best keep scarce, for the steam roller will be over them in very quick time." Dr. Caroline Gelsel, the woman speaker with the Squadron, took occasion to bespeak a large attendance for that wonderful woman, Dr. Anna Howard Shaw. Dr.

Gelsel was free to say what a privilege it was to have such a speaker in such a cause.

COURTESY FOR MRS. BAIRD LUNCHEON AND A TEA

All of Saturday found Mrs. Frank Baird with her friends, so many of whom made her three weeks visit full of pleasing incident. Mrs. Baird is already speeding homeward to Buffalo.

Mrs. Albert Clifton was luncheon hostess with Mrs. Baird in her honor seat. The table tone was an effective combination of lavender and gold wrought from the natural sweet pea and the sunburst buds. The cluster of both pea and bud was basketed as a centerpiece. The candles of lavender held each its tulle shade upon which rested a cluster of the sweet pea in art. Tulle elsewhere gave grace and the softening effect, while the fern frond was used as foliage. Around this, a very pretty table, there sat for two hours the congenial company of twelve. On the place cards were found that to meet and enjoy this pleasure with Mrs. Baird were Miss Kate Edmond with the Mesdames Flora Cameron, William Cameron, John Horsful, Edward Bolton, W. R. Clifton, Frank Miller, Robert Dupree, Lee Davis and Lee Cowan.

For the afternoon pleasure Mrs. Baird was preferred guest, with Mrs. Mattie D. Wilson, Mrs. Ransom's hostess in a Hippodrome box party. As the reel finished, there was adjournment to the glad tea room. Here a double table, with spring tone of white and green, had been especially arranged. Playable and fun was enjoyed, and this always means sociability. Mrs. Willis invited to meet Mrs. Baird in this pleasant way the Mesdames Flora Cameron, Edward Bolton, William Cameron, Banks Hudson of Virginia, E. D. McCas of Houston, M. B. Willis and John Horsful.

SUGGESTION OF A PAGEANT MEETS WITH APPROVAL

The suggestion that Waco be not behind her pageant, also that Waco is rich in episodes which have dramatic interest, seems to have met dramatic sentiment from several sources. The Tribune is out promptly with an editorial which reads:

Why, certainly, Waco can have a pageant that should rival that of Austin. It could open, for example, with the murder of Philip Nolan (who furnished the basis for Dr. Edward Everett Hale's "Man Without a Country") in 1804, only eight miles east of Waco; and it could bring in the Leap of the Indian Lovers from the cliffs on the Bosque. These remarks are evoked by the suggestion in last Sunday's Tribune.

We had never heard that Nolan was near to Waco, and for the moment the romance connected with Lover's Leap was forgotten. Very likely some of those who derive in the lore of past days from McLennan county can suggest other episodes.

In the meantime, a Waco woman comes forward with a well written scenario entitled "A Romance of the Past." The woman is Mrs. J. M. Hale, who, modestly, has been studying moving picture story writing. Mrs. Hale has worked into her synopsis a romance with love and adventure. It is a story of the early days of the settlement of the country, and it is a story of the life of a woman who has been a part of the landscape, both beautiful and rugged, about the Bosque and the Brazos, and leads onward to the the Brazos, and leads onward to the the Brazos, and leads onward to the the Brazos.

It does seem that with the talent in our midst, the incidents of stirring

Society Notes

Little Miss Frances Abernathy of Austin gave birthday greetings on Monday.

The violets are about out of season; have you profited by their lesson of modesty and humility?

Congratulations to the Enterprisers are being generously paid since their wonderful success in the Kreiser recital.

We must seek to make our evening audiences less somber. The leaving of the hat at home can do much toward this.

Saint Paul's confirmation class, which Dr. Wittsell will present to Bishop Kinsolving this year, is unusually large.

With the departures of the Misses Crawford, Wallis and Abbott, visiting girls in Waco society are about the thing of the past.

In the wake of Dr. Axson's charming lecture, we must all read again the Stevenson; and we must have the children read Stevenson, too.

Mrs. Bertha Kunz Baker gave a reading with stirring peace talk during the chapel exercises at Baylor university on Monday morning.

What next for the modern hotel? You can now enter your room, drop your coat into the slot, and behold: the tooth brush which you forgot.

Mrs. Lydia Bailey Davenport of Monroe, Louisiana, who is visiting her mother, Mrs. J. F. Bailey, has spent the last few days with friends in Austin.

Have you noticed how many special choral services were among our church choirs last Sunday; also, how many special choir programs are now rehearsing?

Girls, brush up on your baseball parlance; the games are opening the baseball season very soon. Of course, Waco must have her full proportion of women fans.

The women are wondering why City Commissioner Dollins is so scarce with his policemen? Surely, one should be detailed for every place where the crowd assembles.

President Sanger has announced his men committees for the Cotton Palace. It is now pleasurable curiosity to hear whom he will select for manager of the woman's department.

If there is any one woman in America who can tell all about the militant suffragettes of England it is Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, who speaks at the Auditorium this evening.

It is the present intention of Mrs. J. P. Sample, who has been in San Antonio for several weeks, to remain until after the San Jacinto festivities, which includes the Battle of Flowers.

Mrs. Albert Clifton is expecting within the next few days a guest from Winfield, Kansas. She is Mrs. Milton Bangs, formerly Miss Grace Greer, who spent some time with Mrs. Clifton.

The women of the city applaud the good judgment of the Young Men's Business league in selecting Miss Honor Wolfe to represent the women among the speakers for the natural gas reception.

The next time we have a Fritz Kreiser we must take a little more kindly to the full dress idea. It is rather incongruous to see a girl in extreme of evening attire accompanied by a man in his business suit.

The season is arrived when woman's perpetual topics, babies and cooks, gives way to the chicken pest. Really, it is criminal, how some women permit their chickens to depredate upon their neighbors who are in the effort to have beautiful flower gardens.

With Mr. Griffith, the forced reader, on his return engagement for "Othello" and "Julius Caesar," also, the Ben Greets for their second season in "Hamlet" and "Twelfth Night," Waco will have every phase of Shakespeare, history, comedy and tragedy.

With Lorado Taft in his Chicago studio, where there are eight assistants, one is the now famous Texas girl, Miss Clyde Chandler of Dallas. The Waco delegation to the biennial in Chicago were honor guests at a tea in the Taft studio, a courtesy from Miss Chandler to Mrs. Pennybacker and the Texas club women.

It is the breach of the correct thing in society for calls to be paid upon any but an announced at home day, unless the intimacy so justifies, or the cause is very urgent. The observance of the weekly day at home is not general among Waco matrons. However, some have their day on their visiting cards, and this should be respected.

Notice to Subscribers:
Delivery routes in the City of Waco are in the hands of independent carriers, who buy their papers at wholesale prices. Subscription accounts are due them, not The Waco Morning News. They are under heavy bond, not only to give the best delivery service, but to pay for their papers each month. Their remuneration is the difference between the wholesale price and the retail price which they receive from subscribers. This margin of profit is such that they cannot afford to extend credit, except month by month. They are not required, and they are advised against delivering the paper to anyone who does not pay in accordance with the above subscription terms. These carriers are all earnest, hard working men and they will appreciate any courtesy shown them.
The Morning News should be delivered throughout the City of Waco by 6:30 a. m., and subscribers failing to receive the paper at that time will confer a favor by phoning the Circulation Department, both phones 1132, and a copy will be sent by special messenger.

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of The Morning News will be gladly corrected upon its being brought to the attention of the management.

OPPORTUNITY FOR TEACHERS.

In a statement furnished by the state department of education it is estimated that 27,000 additional school teachers will be needed during the term of 1916-17 and there after to properly care for the additional school attendance that will follow the operation of the compulsory school attendance law that becomes effective September 1, 1916. This is more than the number of teachers employed at the present time and would indicate that there will be no difficulty in finding places for every qualified applicant for a school room position by the time the new law becomes effective.

But the school authorities will have no difficulty in finding applicants. Their difficulty will lie in finding persons who meet the proper requirements for teaching. Many young men and women take the examinations every year who fail to make good in the tests. A little conscientious work on their part between now and the time the new law becomes effective ought to enable them to raise their grades to the point where they can command a certificate and a school.

We are going to need more teachers, as a matter of course, than we have at present, but many of the schools can take care of additional pupils without laying an undue burden upon their present teaching staff and we hardly anticipate the demand for as many additional teachers as estimated by Superintendent Doughty. He and the various county superintendents over the state should see to it that as many capable young men and women as possible, who contemplate teaching, are encouraged to begin at once to prepare themselves for that task. Such preparation will not only save them the embarrassment of failure, but will greatly facilitate the work of the school boards in their efforts to take care of the additional demands that will be made upon them by the enforcement of the new law.

In the meantime, the school boards of the state should begin to lay their plans for taking care of the surplus pupils whom the enforcement of the law will put into the schools. Forcing delinquent children and children of derelict parents to attend school will prove the greatest blessing that has yet been conferred upon those children and no school board should be an obstacle in the conferring of that blessing by failing to make adequate provision for accommodation of those children in the schools.

Eve invented temptation, but forgot to patent it, reminds an exchange. And aren't you glad she didn't take out a patent? Just think of the millions of persons since her day whose characters have grown strong and beautiful through resistance to temptation.

You can't keep a Texan with talent down. A. F. Dickerson of Cuero, a recent A. and M. graduate, aided in planning and is now supervising the wonderful lighting system that contributes so much to the beauty of the Panama-Pacific exposition.

The oldest Texas mayor—oldest in point of years and possibly of service—passed to his reward Sunday when Mayor E. F. Kelley of Bartlett died. He had been the chief magistrate of his town for 18 years and had reached the ripe old age of 82.

Will someone please explain why it is that people's minds turn to poetry and that of young men to love just at the time that the doctors tell us that we are in need of a spring tonic and that our bodies as well as our houses demand a spring cleaning?

Tarrant county proposes a $350,000 bond issue for a new county jail. Maybe the commissioners think an attractive jail the best means of inducing the jurors to convict more of the persons charged with crime in that county.

With the simultaneous arrival of spring and natural gas, the premium on hot air will be obliterated altogether.

STARVING THE SALOON.

For the past two or three years it has not been an uncommon occurrence to note in the news dispatches the statement that a saloon has gone into bankruptcy. And as the liquor trade, so far as the retailer is concerned, is done on a cash basis, there can be no other explanation of the bankruptcy proceedings than a falling off in business.

To this significant trend of affairs there is added the encouraging news from the state comptroller's department that the comptroller has been advised by letter that a number of saloon men have been selling their licenses or permitting their licenses to expire. And the cause for permitting these licenses to expire without any intention of renewing them is based upon poor business conditions, the comptroller explains.

This is very gratifying news to every friend of temperance. Seeing no good in the saloon or the goods it sells, temperance advocates regard money expended there as worse than wasted. There is return upon it not in value received, but in impaired efficiency and more or less moral degeneracy. The people of America spend about $2,500,000,000 annually on intoxicating liquors, or twice what the whole operating expenses of the national government cost, even under our most extravagant administrations. Our liquor bill is six times the cost of the Panama canal and three times what we pay for education.

Universal temperance in this country would be the most effective means of killing the liquor traffic, of course, but inasmuch as the liquor traffic employs insidious means for inducing people to become its patrons, the prohibitionists believe the triumph of temperance will be made much easier by the elimination of the saloon via the ballot box. But total abstinence is the ultimate aim of the prohibitionist, no less than of the temperance worker, and prohibition finds its justification in that it enables many to become total abstainers who have not the moral strength to resist the temptation as long as it exists in their midst.

In a recent temperance address in Philadelphia William Jennings Bryan said, among other things:
"What differences of opinion there may be as to legal remedies, no one doubts that total abstinence is, as far as it goes, a complete remedy for the drink habit. Everyone who by his own resolve separates himself from those who drink and allies himself with those who do not drink to this extent lessens the amount of liquor consumed and lightens the task of those who are called upon to deal with the subject through legislation or through the enforcement of law. Our appeal is to the individual, and I ask your attention while I present a few of the reasons which, to my mind, justify total abstinence."

"In the first place, let us consider the physical reasons against the use of alcohol. To begin with, drink brings no advantage whatever to one who drinks, and since intelligence demands a reason for any course of action, the fact that no good reason can be given for drinking ought to be sufficient to prevent the use of liquor to any extent."

"But the use of liquor is not only unnecessary and indefensible from the standpoint of advantage, but it is objectionable as a beverage, even when taken in the smallest quantities. It has been scientifically demonstrated that the moderate use of alcohol decreases a man's efficiency. An athlete cannot do his best if he drinks at all, a stenographer will make more mistakes when drinking, and a soldier will be less accurate in his aim."

"The accidents in industry are increasing in proportion as liquor is consumed. These are but a few illustrations of the effect of alcohol, even when only a little is taken."

"But there is an argument still more easily understood—namely the increasing demand for total abstinence which is being made by employers. On boats grog used to be furnished to sailors. It is becoming more and more the rule to deny it to them altogether. The owner of a ship cannot afford to trust passengers or cargo, or even the vessel, to a man who allows his brain to be befuddled by alcohol."

"The use of alcohol not only lowers a man's productive capacity, but imparts constitutional weakness to his offspring. Even if the pleasure derived from the use of alcohol were not manifest by a pain that overcomes the pleasure, even if it did not manifest itself in the impairment of the individual who uses it, the fact that its effects are transmitted to the child and thus visits an undeserved punishment upon it, ought to weigh mightily with the man who has not decided the drink question for himself."

"But there is another reason why one should not drink at all, namely, the danger of drinking to excess. It cannot be truthfully said that every moderate drinker becomes a drunkard, but it is true that every drunkard comes from the number of those who drink moderately; none comes from the ranks of the total abstainers."

At least one small-town editor in Texas is going to see the Panama exposition at San Francisco. He is J. B. Lusk of the Italy News-Herald. The Leonard Graphic, hearing of the Italy man's intention, thought Brother Lusk was getting entirely too sporty for the editor of a weekly, and proposed that he be investigated by the legislature. To this proposition Editor Lusk replies:

"This editor will not be subjected to an investigation by anybody on account of having money. It's easy to get a trip to California, when an editor stays at home and attends to business, cuts out smokes, drinks, tobacco, coffee, gasoline, cheap sports and a dozen of other little items of expense. These nickels saved for a year will afford anyone a nice trip of thirty days. We do not dictate how anybody shall spend his money, but we are just stating how a fellow can get by the other fellow."

REFORMING THE LEGISLATURE.

Looking over the work of the legislature and then endeavoring to offer suggestions as to reforming that body to add efficiency to its labors is no easy task, according to the Austin Statesman. Without a doubt, there should be some changes in the legislative system of this state. Without a doubt the Texas legislature needs the services of an efficiency expert more than any other organization of which we know.

We speak of the legislature, not disparagingly, but frankly. We have observed the proceedings of a number of legislative bodies and unquestionably the Thirty-fourth legislature was one of the hardest working legislatures that we have ever had. Its entire membership seemed to desire to work and even in the legislative acts of those who talked little and conserved the state's finances by not taking up the time of the session with speeches were rewarded by having their bills enacted into laws, while those who talked continually and wasted the state's money had most of their bills killed. Even to that extent did the members put a reward on the workers.

Despite this fact, however, the Thirty-fourth legislature in session did not accomplish those things that it should have accomplished. Even though it passed a great many bills during the last week of the session, it did not pass finally upon many of the matters on which there should have been a legislative decision one way or the other. Many members returned to their homes unaware of the contents of many of the bills that were passed. Since printing a comprehensive summary of the work of the legislature, the Statesman has actually been asked by one or two of the members who were slow in leaving Austin whether or not this bill or that bill was really passed.

Such inquiries are doubtless due to the slipshod system of legislating. They are due to the fact that the members of the legislature under the present system are often unaware of the work that is really being done or that must be done.

To remedy such a condition, a number of changes will ultimately be necessary. In the course of the next few days the various angles of the legislative reform movement will be discussed more fully.

One of the most necessary changes, however, will come with the adoption of a system which will not limit the $5 a day compensation to a sixty-day period and force adjournment of the regular session thereafter. Senator James Clayton McNeal in an address at Dallas recently called attention to the fact that it took the people of Lamar county two days to reach a decision upon the provisions of a local bill they desired passed and yet the legislators of Texas are expected within a period of sixty days to pass finally on more than twelve hundred measures. With this very timely comparison drawn, it would not be amiss to suggest that the men who comprise the legislature of Texas will not work for $2 a day at any time. Should the state of Texas pay the members an adequate salary and not limit the period for their deliberations, the members might meet in Austin and really take time to study the matters before them with a view to casting an intelligent vote, to be defended thereafter by sound argument.

Under the present limitations and with the number of bills introduced, it is absolutely impossible for the members to read and study all of the bills with a view of getting at the important features of them. With committee meetings in the morning and at night and with sessions in the afternoon, little opportunity for study is afforded.

When the state of Texas limits its lawmakers to $300 for the period of regular legislative service (taking into consideration the fact that any $2 a day service is done practically under stress) it becomes very evident that the state of Texas cannot expect to have every matter placed before the legislature given the attention it deserves, that naturally many bills will be defeated through ignorance and that others will not be considered because the opportunity for consideration is not afforded within the time allowed for the legislative session. When the people understand that often it is possible, under the existing system, for one man opposed to a measure to defeat that measure because the condition of the legislative calendar is such that it is impossible to get the measure before this branch of the legislature, certainly they should awake to the fact that the time has come to revise the provisions of constitution affecting the legislative service.

We are inclined to the view that Texas at this time does not need a great many new laws. Many of the bills introduced in the last legislature should have been killed. And yet we recall several of the most meritorious of the bills which died because it was impossible within the time limit to give them attention. The blind children of Texas must continue to live in a fire-trap for several months longer than they should be forced to live because some few members of the legislature did not agree to certain provisions of the bill to remedy this evil and succeeded in preventing the house of representatives from taking the bill up for consideration. That such a condition should be possible is hardly to the credit of the legislature or the people who allow the present legislative system to operate.

Some changes are demanded.

The Texas Power and Light company is not superstitious, but did not want the people to regard natural gas as an April fool from the fact that it was turned into the mains on April 1. As a consequence, we'll get the gas March 31.

Palm Sunday in Waco might also be termed Good Sunday. For eighteen hours there was only one arrest in this city and that one merely on suspicion.

State University Professor Member Reclamation Board

Austin, Tex., March 29.—Prof. T. U. Taylor, dean of the engineering department of the University of Texas, has received and accepted appointment as member of the board of review of the southern division of United States reclamation projects, including those of Salt River, Rio Grande and Carlsbad.

This board is appointed by Secretary Lane for the purpose of reviewing the actual cost of water under these projects and determining equitable charges for the same. There has been some dispute about rates between the reclamation service and the water users.
The board, as so far constituted, is as follows: F. W. Hanna, I. M. Lawson, D. W. Murphy, representing the reclamation service; F. A. Jones, Lafayette Clapp and Scott Etter, representing the water users. Dean T. U. Taylor's acceptance, as outside and neither-side representative, makes up the quota of seven.
The sitting of this board will likely not begin before next summer. The findings and conclusions of the board will be transmitted to the secretary of the interior for his consideration and guidance in the matter of adjudicating disputes that arise under these great government reclamation projects as to rates charged for irrigation water.

H. W. Randall Found Dead at Meridian

Meridian, March 29.—The body of H. W. Randall of this place was found in his barn about 6:30 this morning with a bullet hole in his head and a revolver at his side. A note was pinned to his coat which requested that his remains be buried as soon as possible, and that none of his relatives out of the county be notified until he had been buried.
Mr. Randall was at the time of his death in the real estate business here with the firm of Thompson & Randall. He served three terms as sheriff of Bosque county, retiring from office last December. He had also served this county as county treasurer two terms about twenty years ago.

The cause for the act is yet a mystery. He is survived by a wife and small daughter and mother, two brothers and seven sisters.

Negro's Sentence Commuted to Life

Austin, Tex., March 29.—Based upon a favorable recommendation by the board of pardons, Governor Ferguson today commuted to life imprisonment the death sentence which had been imposed upon Sam Harris, a negro, who was to have been hanged tomorrow at Beaumont on conviction of the murder of Boykin Moffett, a white man.
After having carefully examined the case, the board reached the conclusion that the extreme penalty should not be imposed, but that the ends of justice would be subserved by a commutation of the sentence. Physicians who examined Harris advised the board that the negro was criminally and morally insane.

Play at Protecting Cities on the Coast

Texas City, Tex., March 29.—The entire Fourth brigade of the United States army at Texas City left this morning for a forty-eight hour war maneuver west of here. The three infantry regiments are reinforced by the cavalry engineers, artillery and signal corps. The object of the maneuver is to protect Texas City and Alta Loma from an enemy supposed to be on Galveston Island. The Texas City waterfront is supposed to be mined.

Terrell Investigates Brownsville Saloons

Austin, Tex., March 29.—Action upon a telegram received from Brownsville as to reported violations of the liquor laws, Comptroller H. B. Terrell has gone in person to conduct an investigation. This investigation may result in the forfeiture of the liquor licenses to several retail liquor dealers.

Hillsboro Postmaster Receives Commission

Hillsboro, Tex., March 29.—Capt. Wm. A. Florida, recently appointed postmaster of this place, received his commission this morning and will take charge of the office Thursday, April 1.

Horse Believed to Have Rabies Bites Hillsboro Farmer

Hillsboro, Tex., March 29.—Fearing development of rabies, Ed Underwood, who was bitten yesterday by a vicious horse at the home of his father, three miles north of here, was taken to the Pasteur Institute at Austin for examination.
About three weeks ago a malarial, the symptoms of which resembled hydrophobia, broke out among a drove of hogs on the farm and since then several of the animals have died. Precaution was taken to keep the hogs isolated from the other stock, but the action of the horse in attacking and biting young Underwood aroused fear that it might have been bitten by one of the hogs.

Soldiers Violate Game Laws While on Duty on Border

Austin, Tex., March 29.—Numerous complaints have been received by State Game Commissioner Woods of alleged violations of the state game laws by United States troops on patrol duty in the Rio Grande country, and the commissioner has started an investigation.
Many complaints come from the territory west of Del Rio that deer are being killed out of season. It is the intention of Commissioner Woods to stop these violations, even if it is necessary to resort to prosecutions.

Governor Ferguson Is Back at His Desk

Austin, Tex., March 29.—Governor Ferguson was back at his desk today, after an absence of several days on his ranch in Bosque county. He has not as yet signed any of the twenty bills remaining to be acted upon. He is being urged to sign the delinquent tax bill, which is expected to save the state $50,000 annually and makes it mandatory for tax collectors to collect delinquent taxes.
Representative Haxthausen of Harris county today conferred with the governor.

Governor Ferguson did not sign any bills today, nor did he make any appointments. There are between twenty and thirty bills on his desk awaiting action. The governor, in answer to the criticisms made that he overstepped his authority in removing members of certain boards of managers of state institutions, said:
"I have laid my cards face up on the table."
He said his reasons could be found on file in the office of the secretary of state. The governor said that he did not think he has violated the constitution nor infringed in any way on constitutional provisions.

Y. M. C. A. ARMIES ARE READY FOR BATTLE

TWO DAYS' MEMBERSHIP CAM-PAIGN BEGINS THIS MORN-ING—LUNCH AT NOON.

Conflict Will Be Along Restricted
Lines Today, but Will Become General Tomorrow.

With stirring addresses by the opposing generals to their brave men, the campaign for members for the Young Men's Christian association was begun at a luncheon held last night in the association rooms. General King addressed his division, telling them how to attack the enemy in the most strategic way, and prophesying victory for his forces. General Wright, his opponent, was no less confident. The assembly at the association last night was but the prelude to the battle which will rise in all its fury beginning this morning and lasting until tomorrow night, when "Cease firing" will be sounded, and the spoils of the battle counted. On this count will depend the victory in the contest.
"Bright the lights shone over the women and brave men" at the banquet last night. The fair women were the six women who served the luncheon,
Mrs. S. R. Hankins, Mrs. A. J. Flowers, Mrs. E. W. Conway, Miss Tilly

Knebel and Miss Celia Knebel, and the brave men were the hundred members of the Y. M. C. A. who will go forth to battle for more members early this morning. Oh, it was a warlike scene.

The opposing forces will call an armistice at noon today, when they will sit down together about the banquet table in the association building
like friends instead of deadly foes.
The luncheon today will mark the close of the first period of the battle, during which the operations are restricted along certain lines. After noon today the fighting will be general and without limitations.

Cards were distributed last night
upon each of which had been written the name of a prospective member.
There were 800 of these names and the teams were limited to securing members from the 800 men named.
None but the 800 will be called upon by the teams this morning, and all the 800 will receive a visit. After noon today the restriction will not apply and it will be every man for himself.

A special short-term membership and the bathing pool facilities are the principal attractions that are being offered to prospective members by the teams in the contest. Points will be counted on the basis of ten points for each dollar actually received. Three months' memberships will cost $3 and full-year memberships will be sold for $9. Each full membership received will entitle the team taking it to ten extra points.

Commander-in-Chief Thomas A.
Cauffman sat at the head of the table
last night and between the two warring factions to keep peace and preside over the proceedings. In addition to Generals Wright and King short but inflammatory speeches were made by Bob Frazier, Booster Davis and R. B.

Dupree.

Following are the teams and divisions in the contest:

Jitney Ordinance
Effective Thursday

Waco will be a jitneyless town after tomorrow, at least until the necessity of city ordinances laying special requirements upon motor bus operators is passed upon by the higher courts of the state, before whom test cases are now pending. The ordinance passed by the city commission March 22 regulating jitneys goes into effect
Thursday.

Jitney owners stated before the commission at that time that the ordinance would kill motor bus transportation in the city, and statements by several owners yesterday indicated that they would take their cars off the streets until the matter is passed upon by the courts. If the decision is against the jitney men, it is very probable that the high license and bond requirements of the new ordinance will make the retirement permanent, and Wacoans will be forced to depend upon the street cars for cheap transportation, as they did in the days of their fathers.

TEXAS DEATHS.

M. S. Potts Dies at Fort Worth.
M. S. Potts, a nephew of Mrs. W.
R. Davidson and Mrs. H. V. Cox of this city, died yesterday morning in Fort Worth, according to a message received yesterday by Mrs. Davidson.
Mrs. Cox was at the bedside of her nephew. Mr. Potts was a son of Mr.
and Mrs. M. W. Potts, who formerly resided in Waco, the mother being before her marriage Miss Edna Lemond, a member of one of Waco's oldest families. He leaves a wife and one child.

BELIEVE GERMAN SHIP IS TO BE INTERNED

U. S. NAVAL OFFICERS THINK PRINZ EITEL FRIEDRICH WILL NOT LEAVE NEWPORT.

AMERICAN SHIPS ARE ON DUTY

Alabama Reinforces Destroyers and Submarines to Prevent Violation of Neutrality if Ship Leaves.

Washington, March 23.—While every precaution is being taken to guard against possible violations of American neutrality in the event of a dash for the sea through the Virginia Capes
by the German commerce raider Prinz Eitel Friedrich, naval officers here with almost a unit in the belief that the Eitel will cruise no more until the war is over.

They think Commander Thierichens is delaying the trouble to which he has put the British and French cruisers patrolling the Virginia coast and is merely awaiting the expiration of the time limit given him for repairs
before permitting the collector of customs at Newport News to intern his ship for the war.

Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, called at the navy department today and had a talk with Rear Admiral Fiske, aide for operations. It is understood he gave as-urances that the warships of the allies would not come within the three-mile limit or do anything else in violation of neutrality.

It was learned today that the British government had made representations to the state department in regard to the Eitel, taking the ground that in allowing the ship to dock, clear and be painted, the port authorities at Newport News had not observed the Hague treaty stipulations against increasing the naval strength of the ship under such circumstances. Department officials, however, do not accept this view.

No intimation as to when the time given the raider to stay in port would end, was forthcoming from officials today, but it is known that the limit is drawing near.

The battleship Alabama, which left Hampton Roads early tomorrow to reinforce the two destroyers and the submarine on duty there.

Expect Action Soon.

Newport News, Va., March 23.—
With the battleship Alabama due in Hampton Roads early tomorrow under orders from the Washington government to enforce neutrality and the German converted cruiser Prinz Eitel
Friedrich still in port, the situation is still very uncertain regarding the disposition of the German sea raider tonight was expected to be dispelled
before many hours.

Although rumors persist that the commander of the Prinz Eitel desires to be towed to New York for interna-ment, keeping within the three-mile limit to prevent attack from British and French warships, verification of the report has been impossible.

Captain Kiehne, master of the American bark William P. Fry, which was sunk in the South Atlantic last January by the German sea raider, aboard the Prinz Eitel. Captain Kiehne had with him his wife and a party of women friends.

"What did I tell you when I left the Prinz Eitel a few weeks ago?" Captain Kiehne declared when asked what he thought Commander Thierichens intended to do.

The American captain was reminded that he had actually had declared
the Prinz Eitel never would leave America until the European war was over.

"Well," Captain Kiehne replied, "I have nothing to add to that statement
now."

Reports are persistent here that the ordering of the Alabama to Hampton Roads was because of undue activity on the part of foreign warships which have been hovering about the Virginia Capes in wait for the Prinz Eitel. The order to the Alabama was given at Washington Saturday night.

On Friday night the big battleship
Monroe and the big cruiser Oregon were kept for many hours, illuminating the waters of Hampton Roads. In addition to this, the torpedo boat Barney sailed far out toward the Capes and signals were exchanged between the forts and the torpedo boat.

Reason for this vigilance on the part of the military and naval forces here was declared tonight to be based on a report that the British warships, which were ordered to leave the Cape of Good Hope, while two others stood within the three-mile limit outside. Reports from several sources are to the effect that the foreign warship which came in the Capes ventured in almost off Thimble shoals light.

The foreign warships now reported off the Capes are the British cruisers Berwick and Coronado and an unidentified French vessel.

began with small blisters. His hands, arms, feet and legs were sore and sometimes it was on his head. It finally ran into big eruptions. The places were bad looking and he could not rest day or night. The blisters caused much burning and itching and he would often have to leave the affected parts exposed, with no clothing coming in contact. The places looked red and were very hot and feverish. He would scratch them till they would bleed. His hair fell out badly."

CLARENCE OUSLEY MAY ADDRESS ROTARY CLUB

DIRECTOR OF A. & M. EXTENSION
WORK INVITED TO SPEAK
HERE NEXT MONDAY.

Resolutions Adopted on Death of Prof.
J. C. Lattimore—Debate on
Fuel Values Planned.

Clarence Ousley, director of the extension service of A. & M. college, will be the principal speaker before the
local Rotary club next Monday, provided he accepts an invitation that was extended him yesterday. He has been invited to tell the Rotarians how,
in his estimation, the business men of Waco can aid the city by encouraging
the proper development of the agricultural resources of the surrounding territory. He recently delivered a similar address before the Houston Rotary club which the papers there pronounce one of the strongest talks ever
delivered in that city.

Although the address newspaper work
in this state for a quarter of a century,
Mr. Ousley is well acquainted with the resources and possibilities of the state,
and with the special study that he
has given to problems affecting the development of the state's agricultural interests for the last several years
he has been able to form some definite conclusions as to how the agricultural interests can best be developed.

Resolutions upon the death of Prof.
J. C. Lattimore were unanimously adopted yesterday when reported by
a committee appointed a week ago for
that purpose. President J. M. Pen-
land of the Rotary club has received a letter from the Houston Rotary club
containing a copy of resolutions of regret upon Mr. Lattimore's death,
and the Rotary club, and a letter has
been sent the Houston club, thanking
it for its interest in the passing of a Waco citizen.

V. V. Damon and R. J. Potts asked
for another week's time in which to put on the special half hour's entertainment for which they were assigned yesterday. In view of the fact that
Mr. Ousley will be the principal speaker next Monday, the special program committee for yesterday was instructed to provide some special music
for next Monday's meeting.

It was announced that two weeks
from yesterday the chief item on the program will be a debate on the relative merits of gas and coal as fuel in

and Light company championing the

CLARENCE OUSLEY MAY ADDRESS ROTARY CLUB

DIRECTOR OF A. & M. EXTENSION
HERE NEXT MONDAY.

Resolutions Adopted on Death of Prof.
J. C. Lattimore—Debate on
Fuel Values Planned.

Clarence Ousley, director of the extension service of A. & M. college, will
be the principal speaker before the
local Rotary club next Monday, provided he accepts an invitation that
was extended him yesterday. He has been invited to tell the Rotarians how,
in his estimation, the business men of Waco can aid the city by encouraging
the proper development of the agricultural resources of the surrounding
territory. He recently delivered a similar address before the Houston Rotary club which the papers there pro-
nounce one of the strongest talks ever
delivered in that city.

Although the address newspaper work
in this state for a quarter of a century,
Mr. Ousley is well acquainted with the
resources and possibilities of the state,
and with the special study that he
has given to problems affecting the
development of the state's agricultural interests for the last several years
he has been able to form some definite conclusions as to how the agricultural interests can best be developed.

Resolutions upon the death of Prof.
J. C. Lattimore were unanimously
adopted yesterday when reported by
a committee appointed a week ago for
that purpose. President J. M. Pen-
land of the Rotary club has received a letter from the Houston Rotary club
containing a copy of resolutions of
regret upon Mr. Lattimore's death,
and the Rotary club, and a letter has
been sent the Houston club, thanking
it for its interest in the passing of a Waco citizen.

V. V. Damon and R. J. Potts asked
for another week's time in which to
put on the special half hour's entertainment for which they were assigned
yesterday. In view of the fact that
Mr. Ousley will be the principal
speaker next Monday, the special program committee for yesterday was instructed to provide some special music
for next Monday's meeting.

It was announced that two weeks
from yesterday the chief item on the
program will be a debate on the relative merits of gas and coal as fuel in Waco, F. J. Booth of the Texas Power
and Light company championing the

WOMEN MAY BE STRONG

and enjoy life, whether in the home or business world, if they can keep at bay those ailments peculiar to their sex. If every woman realized how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that simple remedy made from roots and herbs, goes to the root of the trouble and overcomes such symptoms as backache, headaches, nervousness and irritability, they would be healthier, happier and stronger. If you suffer from any form of female ills, why don't you try it? It will pay you to do so.

COCOANUT OIL FINE FOR WASHING HAIR

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, the less soap you use the better.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulisified coconut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundant of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulisified coconut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

BIG GROWTH SHOWN BY OWENS LUMBER CO.

WACO CONCERN FILES A NEW
CHARTER AS TEXAS LUMBER
AND LOAN COMPANY.

Two Yards Here and Seven in Other Towns to Be Managed Under One Firm Name.

Charter was filed with the secretary of state on March 19 showing the incorporation of the Texas Lumber and Loan company, with head offices in Waco and branches in seven other towns of central Texas. The officers of the company are: J. T. Davis, president; W. L. McReynolds, vice president and general manager; W. E. Darden, secretary-treasurer, and Sydney Davis, assistant secretary-treasurer. The Texas Lumber and Loan company takes over the properties of the Owens Lumber company of Waco, with allied lumber yards in seven other towns of central Texas. Mr. Davis was president of the Owens Lumber company and Mr. McReynolds was vice president and general manager.

The incorporation of all the interests of the company under the name of Texas Lumber and Loan company is a step for business convenience and increased development which will be brought about by a centralized management. Yards affected by the incorporation of the new company, and whose names will be changed to Texas Lumber and Loan company, are: Owens Lumber company, Waco; Owens Lumber company, East Waco; Mart Lumber company, Otto Lumber company, Falls County Lumber company, Lott, Rosebud Lumber company, McGregor Lumber and Fuel company, and Oglesby Lumber company.

The Owens Lumber company was established in Waco eight years ago, since which time it has grown to be one of the largest concerns of its kind in the south. Its allied yards cover the greater part of central Texas, the richest section of the state, where building is constant, and the growth of the company has been steady and solid. The lost motion of business which was due to the different incorporations of all the allied yards, has been eliminated with the filing of the charter of the Texas Lumber and Loan company, and nothing but increased growth of the business can be expected.

Officers of the Owens Lumber company were J. T. Davis, president; W. L. McReynolds, vice president and general manager; J. Lee Davis, secretary, and C. S. Appel, assistant secretary. Mr. Davis and Mr. McReynolds retain the same positions with the Texas Lumber and Loan company. W. E. Darden, who becomes secretary-treasurer of the new corporation, has been manager of the East Waco yards of the Owens Lumber company.

Bandits Believed to Have Separated at Sapulpa, Okla.

Sapulpa, Okla., March 29.—Three faded horses were found near Kellyville Monday afternoon and officers here are convinced that the five bandits who helped rob the two banks at Stroud Saturday morning have entered Sapulpa and separated. A youth living near Kellyville stated that he saw four men with guns, walking through a field near where the horses were found. The boy states that he thought the men were hunters.

CITY NEWS BRIEFS.

Waco experienced some genuine spring weather yesterday. Although a stiff breeze blew part of the time, it was warm enough so that windows and doors could be left open with comfort.

Damage of $960 because of loss on a car of eggs which arrived at New York after there had been a drop in the market. The loss was covered by the Herndon Produce company from the Cotton Belt railway in a suit now on trial in the county court.

Mack Rose, negro, charged with murder of a negro woman here, is on trial in the fifty-fourth district court. Most of yesterday was consumed in efforts to secure a jury. Rose was convicted at the last term and given ten years in the penitentiary, but the court of criminal appeals granted him a new trial.

Fire early yesterday morning damaged the Provident Barber shop, opposite the Peerless building on Franklin street. The fire originated in a closet at the back of the shop. Damage is estimated at several hundred dollars, fully covered by insurance. The building is owned by the W. R. Hollon estate, and H. A. Starr and Joe Mormino are the proprietors of the barber shop.

Agents of Santa Fe Begin Conference at Dallas Today

The semi-annual loss and damage conference of the Santa Fe system will be held in the Adolphus hotel at Dallas for three days beginning today. F. A. Lehmann, assistant to the vice president of the Santa Fe system, is chairman of the conference, and F. C. Maegly, assistant general freight agent, is secretary. Freight agents of the Santa Fe system from all parts of the western states are members. The conference will last three days, and about 125 officials of the road will be present. C. H. Carringer, local commercial agent of the Santa Fe, will attend.

The conference of the whole system meets twice a year. Division meetings are held oftener. The purpose of all of the meetings is to eliminate the loss and damage to freight shipments. The conferences have particularly to do with loss and damage to shipments after they are in the hands of the railroad, but co-operation of the shipper and receiver is sought, that all damage may be eliminated. The Santa Fe considers that all damage is the result of the carelessness or inefficiency of some one, whether shipper, transporter or receiver. To eliminate this fault, officials of the road give a great amount of their time. It is a matter of great concern to the patrons of the road, for while damage claims substantiated against the road are always paid, the delay and inconvenience of receiving goods in a damaged condition is a serious matter to the receiver. An equal of the methods of the conference may be gathered from the titles of committees taken from the proceedings of the last system conference, some of which are as follows:

Cooperation, Loading, Stowing and Bracing of Automobiles; Loading, Stowing and Bracing of Furniture; Loading, Stowing and Bracing of Freight; Handling Eggs; Leaky Roofs and Repairs on Foreign Cars; Paper Strips of Concealed Shortages; Presence of Moisture and the Heating of Cars for High and Low Grade Loading; Defective Fasteners; Live Stock; Operation of Foreign Lines; Effect on Damage Claims of Illegible Notations on Waybills, and General Conditions.

Officers of the Owens Lumber company were J. T. Davis, president; W. L. McReynolds, vice president and general manager; J. Lee Davis, secretary, and C. S. Appel, assistant secretary. Mr. Davis and Mr. McReynolds retain the same positions with the Texas Lumber and Loan company. W. E. Darden, who becomes secretary-treasurer of the new corporation, has been manager of the East Waco yards of the Owens Lumber company.

Plums Are All Gone and Half of Pears and Peaches Killed

Between 40 and 50 per cent of the peach crop, about 50 per cent of the pear crop and practically all of the plum crop in McLennan county has been killed by the cold weather this spring. M. Falkner, owner of extensive orchards around here, assisted by Prof. E. J. Kyle, horticulturist from the State A. & M. college, has been making a careful inspection of his orchards, and finds conditions as above stated. If no more cold weather is experienced, Mr. Falkner thinks the chances are good for making half of a peach crop at least.

Dr. Anna H. Shaw Speaks Here Tonight

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National Woman's Suffrage association, will speak at 8:15 tonight at the Auditorium. She will be introduced by Judge W. E. Spell. No admission will be charged and a cordial invitation is extended to everybody to come out and hear Dr. Shaw tell why she believes women should have the ballot.

In one of her speeches here, Dr. Carolyn Geisel of the Flying Squadron advised her audience to hear Dr. Shaw, declaring that she was one of the most eloquent speakers for suffrage in America. More than 2,000 persons listened to Dr. Shaw at Beaumont last week. For the last three days she has been resting at San Antonio. Some persons have asked local suffragists how Dr. Shaw will dress, evidently confusing her with Dr. Mary Walker of Washington, D. C., who dons masculine attire. Dr. Shaw is an unusually womanly woman and is not masculine in any sense of the word.

THEATRES

COZY.

"East Lynne" at the Cozy theatre last night, was all that had been promised for it and more. The company and the little leading lady must be credited with a very painstaking and satisfactory presentation of this classic of the stage.

In spite of its great age and its thousands of performances before the public, "East Lynne" still continues to draw big patronage. It is believed that the remainder of the performances of it today and tomorrow will equal in attendance any show Miss Dainty has presented since she came to Waco.

In the role of the unfortunate heroine, Lady Isabel, Miss Dainty's work was a genuine surprise to those who had never seen her in a purely emotional role. Her emotional work has the ring of sincerity about it and last night it registered heavily. Her company contributed excellent support and the production was well painted, well costumed and well furnished.

"East Lynne" is the story of a young noblewoman who, abused in the home of her only living relative, is rescued from her prison by a young lawyer, Archibald Carlyle, who marries her and takes her to live at his home in East Lynne. Carlyle is the attorney for a young man named Richard Hare, falsely accused of a murder, and who is a fugitive from justice. His sister, Barbara Hare, frequently comes to consult Carlyle in her brother's interest, and Lady Isabel being told that for years Barbara has loved Carlyle and had hoped to marry him, becomes jealous of the visits. Sir Francis Levison, a worthless rake who is trying to steal Lady Isabel from her husband, works on her jealousy until he induces her to run away from him. Then begins the repentance which has made the piece the longest-lived and most popular of its class.

For the last half of the week, Miss Dainty is offering "The Cutest Girl in Town" or "The Girl from Laramie."

HIPPODROME.

"The Woman Who Dared." An exciting race between an express train and a high-powered automobile is one of the sensational incidents of George Klein's thrilling film production, "The Woman Who Dared," scheduled for presentation at the Hippodrome theatre today and tomorrow.

For the making of these scenes, Mr. Klein's producers chartered a special train and secured the exclusive use of several miles of railway track for an entire day. A special crew for the train, composed of the most daring engineers and trainmen the road in question could supply, also were commandeered, and a celebrated auto racing driver presided at the wheel of the machine. The race, which the machine was forced to use in order to run parallel with the speeding locomotive is a very rough one, and the occupants of the car had several narrow escapes from death. The spectacle of the locomotive and its heavy train rocking on the tracks from the terrific rate of speed at which it runs, and of the motor car plunging along the rickety road, many times leaving the ground completely in its headlong flight, is one of the most exciting incidents ever thrown upon the screen.

The race between the motor and the engine, however, is only one of a series of thrills offered to picture-loving audiences in "The Woman Who Dared."

The outdoor scenes are marvels of natural beauty and the interiors representative of the most careful selection. Crystal-clear photography makes the most of every one of the intensely dramatic scenes.

"The Woman Who Dared" affords its featured player, Miss Francesca Bertini, splendid opportunities for the display of her talents and she has overlooked none of them. The scenario requires her to give striking exhibitions of equestrian ability, take part in a thrilling race between an automobile and a limited train, engage in a hand-to-hand struggle with an infuriated gypsy and to race the attack of a fear-maddened diplomatic spy.

Patrons of the Nickel were surprised yesterday at seeing Earle Williams and Edith Storey, who made "The Christian," famous, also Anita Stewart, William Dunn and other stars in "The Right Girl" and "The Quality of Mercy," when they only expected to see the great Charles Chaplin. The program daily is just a little better than advertised. Today, "From Headquarters," a Vitagraph featuring Earle Williams and Anita Stewart.

Rose Peters, the daughter of a detective, who believes there is no such thing as an excuse for crime, falls in love with her employer, William Brown. He devotes himself to her exclusively, despite the anger of her father. Matrimonial when Belle Waring is engaged to fill a position in his employ, Brown turns to the new beauty, ignoring the pleadings of his former charmer, who is becoming an object of derision to her fellow workers. Things come to a crisis when Rose enters the private office unexpectedly and finds Belle Waring in Brown's arms. A stormy scene follows. Rose, in a frenzy, impulsively grabs a paper knife and stabs her employer. Brown, who is about to do his duty and arrest her, goes to Brown's office as an officer of the law he becomes convinced that his own daughter committed the crime. He is about to do his duty and arrest her when word comes from headquarters to drop the case. Brown, repentant and finding his wife is not fatal, has halted further investigation. He sends for Peters, confesses all, and the father returns home to his daughter with a glad heart.

QUEEN.

"The Commanding Officer."

A strong four-part adaptation of Theodore Burt Sayre's noted stage success, "The Commanding Officer," with Alice Dovey, is the latest feature produced by the Famous Players' Film Company on the Paramount program at the Queen today. Alice Dovey, who won distinction in the recent theatrical successes, "The Girl on the Film," makes her first appearance in motion pictures in this subject, and the initial film characterization must be considered an important acquisition to the screen.

The strength of the plot is derived from the unjustified accusation against the honor of a young and beautiful woman, the wife of the commanding officer, and through a sub-plot that has for its center motif a combination of facts equally thrilling and original, which involve the commanding officer in a domestic tragedy of which both he and his young wife are the innocent victims. Eventually the source of the false double accusation is disclosed, the genuinely guilty ones revealed, and complete vindication obtained. The characters of "The Commanding Officer" are picturesque; its plot bafflingly intricate, and its action swift. Everything in it is exciting, and the suspense never for a moment wanes.

With Alice Dovey—one of the most beautiful women in motion pictures. Produced by Famous Players Film Co.

SHREVEPORT RACE FOR FIRST DAY CROWD

LOUISIANA FANS PANTING FOR BASEBALL AND WILL CONTENT FOR DAVIDSON CUP.

NEW BLOOD PUTS PEP IN FIGHT

With Change of Management at San Antonio, Prospects Are Great—Best Season in Texas Baseball.

Just a week from next Thursday the baseball season starts in the Texas league, and the fans are already beginning to get into the spirit of the thing. The season is expected to be the best yet, and the fans are already beginning to get into the spirit of the thing. The season is expected to be the best yet, and the fans are already beginning to get into the spirit of the thing.

Whatever truth there may be in these theories one thing is certain, Waco has no grounds to worry as to the class of the Navigators of 1915. That it is the best club in the circuit is putting it at the least, but that it is a club that is a pennant contender is a fact that is hard to dispute.

Draws First Day Crowds.

Waco has ever stood well up in the ranks of cities who turned out big crowds for the opening day games. This year is no exception. The fans are already beginning to get into the spirit of the thing. The season is expected to be the best yet, and the fans are already beginning to get into the spirit of the thing.

Now Waco has at least one burg on the line. The fans are already beginning to get into the spirit of the thing. The season is expected to be the best yet, and the fans are already beginning to get into the spirit of the thing. The season is expected to be the best yet, and the fans are already beginning to get into the spirit of the thing.

Been Without Long Time.

Now it is different. They have been without any kind of ball so long that they would welcome a trolley league. Manager Hard has been in charge of the team. The fans are already beginning to get into the spirit of the thing. The season is expected to be the best yet, and the fans are already beginning to get into the spirit of the thing.

ENDS FIGHTING IN NEVADA.

Carson, March 29.—By vetoing today the bill permitting 20-round boxing contests passed at a recent session of the Nevada legislature, Governor Boyle put an end to all licensed prize fighting in Nevada, having already signed the general revenue bill which repealed the law under which ten-round prize fights have been held during the past two years.

TEMPLE 3, AUSTIN 2.

Temple, March 29.—Austin lost in an exhibition game to Temple today when Darnaby potted a home run in the ninth with two out.

Doak Roberts and Buffs Pass Through En Route to Temple

J. Doak Roberts and his grizzled penitents from Houston were in Waco last night, coming from Corsicana on a late train and being scheduled to leave early to play Temple two games today and tomorrow. When located at his hotel the big noise among Texas league managers was counting rather whole some-looking pile of greenbacks, which was his share of the Corsicana gate receipts. This annual endorsement by the home town people is a source of great pride to Doak, and yesterday his old school chums at Corsicana and their friends were in full force to see him and his Buffs drive down to the New York Giants. Doak was reared at the Navarro county metropolis.

Doak taking everything from the prospects to the past. Concerning the past, especially several incidents which occurred in September last, he spoke with great feeling. Many things were said about Doak and his club at the time, which, regardless of the opinion to a great extent, might still have, he thinks, been avoided. Any way, as in the case of the McGraw incidents, Doak seems willing to let bygones be bygones and start in to win this year.

And if one has any doubt but that Doak means to win, just let him talk a few minutes to the fighting Irishman, and he will change his mind. In fact, Doak thoroughly convinced the writer that he is the best team in the world and only because of lack of a few more exhibition games still scheduled, playing the New York Giants at Houston on his return here.

Heavy Training Is Still the Rule in Both Pug' Camps

Havana, March 29.—Jack Johnson and Jess Willard continued their training routine to fit themselves for the heavy-weight championship fight in which they are to engage on June 10. Both men worked hard in their training quarters before large crowds and also on the ring.

Willard went through all his indoor exercises this afternoon and in addition took on his sparring partners in turn for the first time. Johnson, on the other hand, was left to the head and body by his best blows today. He says he has no more to say about his condition. He is satisfied with his condition. He gives his weight as 225 pounds and says he is in the best of health. He expects to enter the ring at 233 pounds, so he has six pounds to take off.

Willard will make his final spurt Wednesday night, when he will fight Jess Willard. He says he expects to enter the ring at 233 pounds, so he has six pounds to take off.

MARKET REPORT

COTTON

New York, March 29.—Cotton was irregular enough to suggest more or less uncertainty and rather an unsettled sentiment and after an early advance prices eased off, closing steady at a net decline of 4 to 6 points.

Cables were relatively easy, but after opening at a decline of 3 points to an advance of 4 points, the local market sold 6 to 9 points net higher on over-Sunday buying orders and scattered demand, which was probably encouraged by reports of a more active business in cotton goods, continued cold weather in the south and the more optimistic tones of the financial markets.

October contracts made a new high seasonal record, closing at 12 1/2. The previous best prices of the season, but around this level there was heavy general realizing and the market soon turned easier.

Reports of increased offerings of spot cotton here from the south for contract delivery accompanied some selling by southern spot houses on the market, and the more active positions sold about 6 to 7 points net lower during the afternoon.

Pressure by hedge selling, however, was by no means general or aggressive and most of the contracts offered around the ring were attributed to realizing of old longs, while some of the local trade interests were good buyers, particularly of October contracts. That support and predictions that a private acreage report scheduled for publication here tomorrow night would prove a bullish factor probably checked the decline, and caused slight rallies during the last hour, but each bulge seemed to attract renewed realizing and last prices were within 2 to 3 points of the lowest.

Exports for the day, 60,121 bales, making this season's total 1,456,485. United States port stocks 1,456,485. Interior receipts 27,746.

NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, March 29.—Liquidation by longs who wanted their profits was the main influence in the cotton market today and it caused a net loss of 9 to 10 points, the market closing at about the lowest of the day. It was a session of nervous and nervous fluctuation, decided contrary to the broad market the latter part of last week.

In the early trading there was a period of strength on buying orders which had accumulated over Sunday and in the early afternoon there was another hard spurt, following the quotation of a rise of 15 points in total sales of 220 bales, but during the remainder of the session the market had a tendency to ease off, and the closing was at a net loss of 9 to 10 points over Saturday's close.

It was probable that the approaching Easter holidays, which will probably be taking to some extent, as the gossip was in favor of rather than against the market. The strong net demand made a good impression, as did the large exports, total foreign clearances being 60,121 bales.

SPOTS.

SPECIAL MEETING CALLED FOR THURSDAY

CITY COMMISSION WILL MEET ON LAST DAY FOR MAYOR TO VETO NURSE ORDINANCE.

BOARD WILL MAKE NOMINATION

Regulation of Telephone Service and Gas Extensions to Also Be Taken Up.

The city commission will meet Thursday morning at 9 o'clock to take final action on the visiting nurse ordinance, which was passed at the meeting on March 22. Mayor Riggs at that time announced that he would veto the ordinance, which in regular meetings would carry over final action on the matter until April 5, one week before the new commissioners take their seat. Thursday is the exact date of the expiration of the ten days allowed by the charter for the mayor to present his veto on the nurse ordinance or to sign it, and if neither is done the ordinance automatically becomes a law of the city. The commissioners yesterday adjourned the meeting until Thursday, at which time the matter of the mayor's veto of the ordinance will be taken up. Mayor Riggs announced at the meeting of the commission last week that he would veto the ordinance if passed, and if it was passed over his veto he would use his influence with the new commissioners who will take their seats April 12 to obtain a repeal of the ordinance.

The board of control, proposed under the ordinance which the mayor has announced he will veto, held a meeting yesterday afternoon at which the name that will be presented to the commission to fill the position of visiting nurse was decided upon. Dr. S. C. Gage, a member of the board, who has been active in behalf of the ordinance, said last night that the name would be ready for presentation to the commission Thursday, when final action on the mayor's veto will be taken by the commission. All of the commissioners favor the ordinance, the vote for its passage being unanimous.

False Economy

Perhaps you use an alum baking powder because you think it is cheaper and therefore more economical. But is it?

Leading food experts and medical authorities have for years declared that alum baking powders are not safe to be used. The chief European nations prohibit them altogether.

Can it be truthfully said that an article of food so generally condemned is economical at any price?

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder, which is made from cream of tartar, adds only healthful qualities to the food.

The difference in cost of a pan of biscuits or of a cake made with Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder as compared with cheap alum or phosphate of lime powders is about one cent, which is surely too small an amount to warrant the risk.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

ments by the company for service will be discussed by the commission at the adjourned meeting Thursday. J. B. Earle, president of the Texas Telephone company, which recently bought the plant and franchise of the Southern Telephone company, was invited to be present and present the company's side of the matter.

Littlefield Presides. Commissioner Littlefield presided at the meeting of the commission yesterday morning in the absence of Mayor Riggs, who is out of the city on private business. The commission was in session an hour, and little business of interest was transacted. Fewer spectators were present in the commission chamber than have been at any of the preceding meetings under the present administration.

Extensions and connections that shall be made by the gas company free of charge to consumers will be covered in an ordinance which the city commission yesterday directed the city attorney to bring in at the meeting of the commission which will be held next Monday morning. The ordinance is at the request of Commissioner Dollins, who stated to the commission that the provisions of his published notice setting forth the service that must be given free to consumers had not been complied with by the gas company. The city attorney was also instructed to bring in an amendment to the traffic ordinance permitting automobiles and other vehicles to stand on the downtown streets at an angle of 45 degrees to the curb. The present traffic ordinance provides that both front and rear wheels of standing vehicles must be within 18 inches of the curb.

Commissioner Foster requested that the city secretary be instructed to bring in a statement covering expenditures for the past two years, the document to constitute a summary of the work of the outgoing administration. Commissioner Foster said that in calling attention to charges of extravagance against the commission that he wished to make clear that the commission had had to meet almost $100,000 of extra expense, covered in the following amounts: $25,000 deficit from previous administration; interest on $250,000 new bonds; $18,000 for improvements in territory added to the city by the new charter, and from which taxes have been received; $14,000 for improvements to the city hall; $14,000 overpaid due to floods and heavy rains, and other small expenses.

COMMISSION BRIEFS.

Overloading was given by City Engineer E. J. Jahns as the cause of the sag of the roadway in the street bridge at the foot of Washington street. The engineer reported that in company with the county engineer he had examined the span and found a sag in the center of about eight inches. He recommended that wooden blocks be substituted for the concrete and brick flooring in the roadway. The bridge is of the cantilever type, which principle gives the strongest span that can be built for a bridge.

The 162nd in the series of notes by the city to Ockander Bros. for paving was paid and ordered destroyed by the commission. The series was issued under the administration of Mayor James B. Baker, and were to run for ten years. They originally totaled $30,000, of which all but about $2000 has been paid.

Five thousand dollars forfeit of the Texas Gas company will be returned when natural gas is turned into the mains of the city. This was the answer given by the company to P. P. Crosby, representing the company, which is building the pipe line from the Mexia fields to Waco. The check was posted as a forfeit to guarantee that natural gas would be piped to the city, and was made returnable when the gas actually reached the consumer. The $10,000 forfeit of the Texas Power & Light company, which was made returnable when fifteen miles of pipe were laid in the line to Waco, has been returned. According to announcement of the Texas Power & Light company, natural gas will be turned into the mains in the city Wednesday.

Clay street paving will be completed tonight, according to T. W. Lackie, local manager for the Texas Bitulithic company, who appeared before the commission yesterday. The third estimate of the company amounting to $6236, was ordered paid.

Chronic drug users among the poor of the city will be cared for in private sanitarium. This action by the commission yesterday was made necessary by the increase in this character of patients brought about by the operation of the new stringent federal opiates law, and the fact that such patients are not included in the contract of the city with the Providence sanitarium.

The Southern Traction company was ordered to put the east approach to their bridge across the Brazos in the order required by their franchise.

An invitation was accepted by the commission from the Young Men's Business league to attend the celebration of the advent of natural gas into Waco, which will take place Wednesday night.

SUPERSTITION CAUSE OF WOMAN'S ARREST

FAILURE OF MRS. KATIE WRIGOSKI-NOSKI TO BURN HUSBAND'S CHARM GIVES CLUE.

SHERIFF TAKES WOMAN BACK

Examining Trial in Marlin Murder Case Will Be Held Wednesday Morning.

Because the watch chain worn by Ed Wrigonoski of Marlin bore a cross as its charm, his wife, Mrs. Katie Wrigonoski, who is a devout Catholic, did not destroy it when she burned and made away with the body and clothing, including the watch. Sheriff C. H. Platt of Falls county found the cross, figured from its being in the house that Wrigonoski had never left the place and arrested the wife. Had it not been for her religious superstition, it is probable that her deed would never have been discovered. Sheriff Platt and County Attorney Tom Bartlett of Falls county were here yesterday and Mrs. Wrigonoski made a full confession to them and John B. Allison, assistant county attorney. It did not differ materially from her story as narrated in yesterday's Morning News. She was taken back to Marlin yesterday afternoon. The examining trial is set for Wednesday morning.

Diligent search over the house resulted in the finding of $830.90, which was in Wrigonoski's pockets when he was killed. Mrs. Wrigonoski sent the suit, which her husband was supposed to have worn to visit his son in Fort Worth, to her son at Bryan, and it was found in his trunk.

Previously to Mrs. Wrigonoski's arrest, her daughter from Houston and her son from Bryan had been brought to Marlin and placed in the county jail there. When she was allowed to look through the bars at them and heard their cry of "Mother," she broke down and told the whole dreadful story of how she hit her husband over the head with a piece of stove wood on the night of Feb. 15, burned the body in the back yard and then placed the charred bones in post holes. More of the charred bones were found yesterday.

All doubt as to any guilt on the part of the daughter has been removed. Sheriff Platt, County Attorney Bartlett and others are making up a purse to send her back to Houston, where she has been employed, with a strong letter affirming her innocence of any complicity in the crime.

Sheriff Platt worked up the case himself and one of Wrigonoski's sons, who lives at Marlin, gave him $1,000 for discovering who did the killing.

Red Cross Benefit Concert Is Given at Carroll Chapel

Prof. Rudolf Hoffmann and John de Heck of the Baylor music faculty were greeted by an enthusiastic and fair-sized audience in Carroll chapel last night in their Red Cross benefit concert. Both performers were in their best moods and delighted the audience with their playing and singing.

Emphasizing the compositions of Chopin, Prof. Hoffmann chose his program largely from that author and his interpretation was quite pleasing to all Chopin students and admirers. Likewise, Mr. de Heck chose his program largely from Schubert and sang a group of short songs from "Maid of the Mill," a charming love story. "Tear Drops" and "The Brooks Lullaby" were probably his best efforts. Both performers were encored. Mr. Hoffmann responding and Mr. de Heck only bowing his acknowledgments.

OUR POLICY "THE PUBLIC BE PLEASED"

the Principals' Association of the City of Waco, desire to express our appreciation of him as a man among us and as a superintendent.

Words cannot express what we feel in this our time of loss and sad bereavement. We realize that in Superintendent Lattimore were blended those characteristics most honored among men. He was just, sympathetic, unselfish, big-hearted and always courteous. He had few equals in the intellectual field. His mind was clear and analytical. Seldom was his judgment questioned on any matter to which he had given thought.

While we shall sadly miss him as superintendent and shall often feel the need of his wise counsel, it is as a friend and comrade that we shall miss him most, for he was especially companionable and sympathetic, always entering heartily into everything that came to us either in school affairs or in our private lives.

Therefore, be it resolved, That we extend to the family our sincere sympathy in this, their great sorrow. Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our association and a copy furnished the local papers for publication.

Begin With Small Savings

We believe that the reason most people do not acquire the saving habit is because they feel that the amount of money they can put away each month is so small that it would not amount to anything substantial during their lives.

This is proved a fallacy by the experience of countless successful savers, who begin by putting small sums into the bank regularly and see their resources grow by larger deposits and the steady interest return, to the point where they have sufficient funds to make a permanent, profitable investment.
